Forecast For Scotland
Issued by Met Office Aberdeen
at 1600 on Monday 01 Mar 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Frost or fog for some tonight. Sunny spells on Tuesday.

This Evening and Tonight:
Staying dry with clear periods and a frost in the west. Mist and low cloud will become extensive across eastern Scotland and extending through the Central Lowlands to the Glasgow area.

Tuesday:
Another dry day with plenty of sunshine across western Scotland. Mist and low cloud will linger all day across eastern Scotland and parts of the Central lowlands. Light winds.

Outlook for Wednesday to Friday:
Most places will stay dry with some sunshine and light winds. There may be a few showers in the northeast on Thursday, wintry on hills as it turns colder.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.